As Washington State University’s health sciences campus, WSU Spokane prepares future health care professionals and engages in world-class research that leads to healthier people and communities. WSU Spokane offers graduate and baccalaureate completion programs and advanced professional studies in a variety of disciplines, with a strong focus on the health sciences and professions. The campus is home to three of the 11 WSU colleges: the Elson S Floyd College of Medicine, the College of Nursing, and the College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences.

The College of Medicine offers a Doctor of Medicine degree and encompasses medical education and biomedical research. The college seeks applicants with ties to Washington who want to leave a legacy of improving the health of Washington communities and, specifically, individuals who want to help solve problems in challenging health care environments within the state. Students gain clinical experience starting in their first year. Their training takes them to a wide range of settings, from large hospitals in urban centers to small clinics at rural crossroads. Students find themselves immersed in hands-on lessons from seasoned practitioners. This approach is known as a community-based model of medical education.

The College of Medicine also houses the department of Speech and Hearing Sciences, which offers programs leading to a Bachelor of Arts in Speech and Hearing Sciences and a Master of Science in Speech and Hearing Sciences in speech-language pathology. Training in speech and hearing sciences through the bachelor's level degree is considered a pre-professional degree. State, national, clinical, and educational certifications require completion of the master's degree. Graduate students are prepared as speech-language pathologists to provide direct and consultative services in educational and medical settings.

The department of Nutrition and Exercise Physiology is also housed in the college, and offers a Bachelor's in Nutrition and Exercise Physiology, a Master of Science Coordinated Program in Dietetics, Master of Science in Nutrition and Exercise Physiology, and a Doctor of Philosophy in Nutrition and Exercise Physiology. Students in this dynamic setting are immersed in biological studies of the human body along with relevant social and psychological sciences. Classroom and practical experiences prepare students for careers in health care, including exercise physiology, dietetics, public health, research, and academia.

The WSU College of Nursing educates more than 900 upper-division undergraduate and graduate-level nursing students each year across its five sites statewide. The college graduates the most bachelor-prepared nurses in the state through its Bachelor of Science in nursing program and its registered nurse to Bachelor of Science program for licensed registered nurses. The college also offers graduate programs that prepare nurses to become advanced practitioners and nurse educators, leaders, and scholars. These include the Master of Nursing, focused on population health; the Doctor of Nursing Practice, with specialties in family nurse practitioner, psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner or population health; the Doctor of Nursing Practice, with specialties in family nurse practitioner, psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner or population health; the Doctor of Philosophy in Nursing: (Specializations: Curriculum and Instruction, EdM, MA; Educational Leadership, EdD, EdM, MA; and Teaching, Elementary or Secondary, MIT).

Learning Opportunities

Health sciences students at WSU Spokane are encouraged to adopt an interprofessional, team-based approach to health care. They are given opportunities to learn side by side with students from other health disciplines. This includes at area health screening clinics and other community service opportunities, as well as an interprofessional core curriculum with learning activities addressing roles and responsibilities, communication, ethics and teamwork.
Students can take advantage of a wide variety of clinical placements and internship options through campus partnerships with the health care community in the Spokane area. These options extend to an on-campus community health care clinic that acts as a rotation site for students to hone their skills in an interdisciplinary setting. Care in the clinic is led by medical residents under the direction of practicing physicians.

Students also enjoy opportunities to participate in laboratory and clinical research conducted at WSU Spokane in the areas of sleep, neuroscience, genetics, pharmacology, addictions, diabetes, other chronic diseases, cancer, community population health, and others.

Campus and Student Life

WSU Vancouver is an inclusive, innovative, non-residential research university dedicated to offering premier undergraduate and graduate educational and research experiences. The campus is located in dynamic and increasingly diverse Southwest Washington state, just across the Columbia River from Portland, Oregon. Both Portland and Vancouver offer extraordinary and accessible cultural and recreational opportunities in theater, dance, visual arts, and community activities. WSU Vancouver’s strategic plan includes a commitment to equity; one of the University’s goals is to increase the success of under-represented students, particularly Latinx, Black, Native American, and Pacific Islander students.

Located on 351 scenic acres, the WSU Vancouver campus features not only state-of-the-art buildings and student gathering places, but also a system of biking and walking trails with views of Mount Hood and Mount St. Helens. An active student government and more than 50 student clubs make it easy for students to connect with each other. Students gain experience while helping businesses grow and prosper. The program contributes to the economic development of Southwest Washington and the Portland metropolitan area.
- Center for Intercultural Learning and Affirmation: Commonly referred to as CILA on campus, the center strives to cultivate an inclusive community where historically underserved students are affirmed and have sense of belonging at WSU Vancouver. Students and community members engaged in CILA programs and initiatives develop strong, culturally responsive skill-sets required to build the capacity for intercultural learning and affirmation.
- Technology and civic engagement: WSU Vancouver’s Creative Media and Digital Culture Program exemplifies the collaborative and inventive efforts of students, technology, and local businesses. Each semester Senior Seminar students partner on projects that range from developing websites and apps to creating virtual tours and interactive experiences for business and nonprofit organizations in Southwest Washington and the Portland metropolitan area.
- VanCoug American Democracy Project: As part of a nationwide initiative, participants learn about how to use policy to promote change, create an individual voice for themselves and increase their civic awareness. The project promotes participation in the democratic process, deliberative dialogue, civil discourse, and civic engagement. Participants become engaged on campus and in the community to create a more educated, democratic society.
